

GZA GeoEnvironmental Chosen Top Environmental Consultant in the CT Law Tribune

BLOOMFIELD, CT issued November 16, 2007... GZA GeoEnvironmental Inc., one of the area's leading environmental and geotechnical consulting firms, has been named the best environmental consultant firm in Connecticut in 2007 by the Connecticut Law Tribune.

The Connecticut Law Tribune recently held its third annual survey of Connecticut attorneys and law firms for the best providers of services and goods to the legal profession. The Connecticut Law Tribune is the state's only weekly newspaper devoted to covering the legal community offering the latest developments in Connecticut courts, law firms and legislation. The award was announced in the October edition. This is the second consecutive win for GZA as The Best Environmental Consultant.

The GZA Hartford regional office offers professional services and technical specialties that make it one of the largest and most respected environmental consulting entities in the region.

"This is a subjective, not objective poll," reads the Connecticut Law Tribune. "It does not measure who writes the most business, who has the most revenue or the most customers. It does measure the loyalty and satisfaction readers have with vendors. Readers responded vigorously to the opportunity to voice their choice and made their choices for the Best -- the companies that won the loyalty and support of Connecticut's legal community."

"We are proud to have been chosen as the Best of 2007 for our environmental consultant and witness services. The Connecticut Law Tribune is highly respected across the region and their survey results come as very high praise to our professional staff," said William R. Beloff President and CEO of GZA GeoEnvironmental, Inc. "We work hard everyday to earn the loyalty and satisfaction of all of our clients and it is quite rewarding to receive this very positive feedback."
